11. Term Searching Form

$\textcircled{1}$ Write down Term A,B, and C that are same with $\lceil 10. \text{Term Relating Form} \rceil$ . Search essential links two terms by two.
Ter	m A: B: C:
A B	②Write down terms into the blanks without considering the meaning.  (A ) has a behavior of (B )  ③If the sentence made by ② can describe felt sense, ask yourself what you can tell from it and write down freely things coming up with.  You can ask yourself what is a "substance" if A has the substance of B.  ④If some words you think significant come out, make them as new term. →New Term D
ВА	⑤Write down terms into the blanks without considering the meaning.  (B ) has a behavior of (A )  ⑥If the sentence made at ⑤ can describe felt sense, ask yourself what you can tell from it and write down freely things coming up with.  You can ask yourself what is a "substance" if B has the substance of A.  ⑦If some words you think significant come out, make them as new term. →New Term E
ВС	® Write down terms into the blanks without considering the meaning. (B ) has a behavior of (C ) ⑨ If the sentence made at ⑨ can describe felt sense, ask yourself what you can tell from it and write down freely things coming up with. You can ask yourself what is a "substance" if B has the substance of C.
С В	<ul> <li>① Write down terms into the blanks without considering the meaning.</li> <li>(C ) has a behavior of (B )</li> <li>② If the sentence made at ① can describe felt sense, ask yourself what you can tell from it and write down freely things coming up with.</li> <li>You can ask yourself what is a "substance" if C has the substance of B.</li> <li>③ If some words you think significant come out, make them as new term. → New Term G</li> </ul>
C A
A C	<ul> <li>①Write down terms into the blanks without considering the meaning.</li> <li>(A ) has a behavior of (C )</li> <li>③ If the sentence made at ① can describe felt sense, ask yourself what you can tell from it and write down freely things coming up with.</li> <li>You can ask yourself what is a "substance" if A has the substance of C.</li> <li>④ If some words you think significant come out, make them as new term. → New Term I</li> </ul>