

12. Term Concept Building Form Instructions

- ① From Forms 9 through 11 (Term Selection Form, Term Relationship Form, Term Discovery Form) collect important words/phrases into a list. It is acceptable to add terms from other forms as well.
- ② Choose three important terms from the list to be concepts O, P, and Q. By putting them together in various ways you will create a conceptual structure.
- ③ Express felt sense by creating the sentence that includes O as its subject, and P and Q as the predicate.
- ④ Express your felt sense as in step ③ but with P as the subject, and P and Q as the predicate.
- ⑤ Express your felt sense as in step ③ but with Q as the subject, and P and O as the predicate. With this, you have completed the sentence set OPQ.
- ⑥ Choose one term from the list to be concept R. Express the felt sense in a sentence that includes R as its subject, and O, P, and Q as the predicate.
- ⑦ Append R to the sentence from ③, changing it as little as possible, and express the same thing you expressed in ⑥. You can make some grammatical changes and divide the sentence into multiple sentences if necessary.
- ⑧ Append R the sentence from ④, as above. You can make some grammatical changes and divide the sentence into multiple sentences if necessary.
- ⑨ Append R to the sentence from ⑤, as above. You can make some grammatical changes and divide the sentence into multiple sentences if necessary. By combining terms, you have completed the sentence set OPQR.
- ⑩ Choose one term from the list as term S. Express your felt sense with a sentence that includes S as the subject, and O, P, Q, and R in the predicate.
- ⑪ Append S to the sentence from ⑦, as much as possible retaining the meaning from ⑩. You can make some grammatical changes and divide the sentence into multiple sentences if necessary.
- ⑫ Append S to the sentence from ⑧, as above. You can make some grammatical changes and divide the sentence into multiple sentences if necessary.
- ⑬ Do the same by appending S to the sentence from ⑨, changing the form as little as possible. You can make some grammatical changes and divide the sentence into multiple sentences if necessary.
- ⑭ Do the same with the sentence from ⑥. You can make some grammatical changes and divide the sentence into multiple sentences if necessary. By combining terms, you have completed the sentence set OPQRS.
- ⑮ Add terms following the same procedures. Choose added terms from the term list. Follow the two steps below to add the terms.
 - Step 1 : Express your felt sense by making a sentence that includes the added terms as subject, and the other terms as predicate.
 - Step 2 : Append the added terms to the final sentence from each previous set, maintaining the original form as much as possible. You can make some grammatical changes and divide the sentence into multiple sentences if necessary.
- ⑯ This procedure is complete when you have finished adding all of the terms you like. You can create sentence set(s) with as many terms as you have. The terms you have related to one another will be your “concepts,” and their relationship to one another will be your “conceptual system.” Your conceptual system expresses your individual value system and personal opinions (personal logic/”my theory”).
